OF THE WHEELING Y. M. C. clebrated at the Fnited Pr Church Last Night-Annual Report of President Vance Full of Interesting Facts-Hav. Dr. Mofat Speaks.

The third anniversary of the formation in this city of a Young Men's Christian Association was celebrated last evening a the United Presbyterian church, on Chap line street. There was a very large cor gregation present, every pew in the large uditorum being filled, and many seated in chairs placed in the aisles.

members of the Association of the interest taken in their great work. There were no services held in several of the other churches in order that all who felt an interest in the Association or desired to attend the special colebration services night do so. This fact accounted in part for the large attendance.

OPENING BERVICES.

The meeting was in charge of Mr. J. N. Vance, President of the Association. He presented his annual report, which was a very interesting paper. The other special feature was an address by Rev. Dr. J. D. Molfat, President of the Washington-Jef-College, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian Church, which lough short, was one of the most able talks that popular speaker has ever delivred here.

The evening's exercises were opened by the singing of a voluntary by the choir of the church followed by the singing of a part of the 148th Psalm by the entire congregation. The singing was hearly and spirited all through the evening. An appropriate Societies, lesson was and her constructions of the singing was bearly and spirited all through the evening. The report goes on to give a brief and cancise resume of the great work done during the year. The building of the Association has been open every day as a safe and attractive resort for young men. It has in addition to being used by members for Association work been used regularly by the ministers of the city, the Womens' Union Benevolent Society and the Womens' Christian Association and other organizations. At all times the aim has been to maintain a good wholesome social atmosphere about the building, and if young men have not felt at home there they have only themselves to blame.

The membership now reaches 234, of which 194 are active and 40 associate m which 194 are active and 40 associate mem-bers. There are in the library 200 books that have been donated by friends. The gymnasium is still kept up and used, but is not of as much benafit as it should be, owing to its cramped quarters. During the year 185 purely religious meatings were held, with an attendance of 10,789. There were 50 Sabbath afternoon meetings for young men held, five of tham in *ha for young men held, five of them in the Opera House, with an average attendance of 77. There were 52 Saturday evening prayer meetings for young men, with an average attendance of 27. Miscellaneous meetings were as follows:

"The work has been economically manadade. Unnecessary, and in some instances necessary expenses have been at avoided. We appreciate the financial support given, and we believe that if the general public could be brought to see the exit tent and practical character of the work done for the religious and moral welfare of the young men, that it would not be permitted to languish.

"The usefulness of our Association is largely restricted for the want of proper financial support, and nearly ever since its organization it has been pressed for most economical manner. If sufficient financial always given, the work could be largely extended and much more good accomplished, and it is trusted that a greater interest will be taken by the public and those who are able to give, and that the much-needed assistance will be furnished to place the Wheeling Association on a good financial basis."

While the tone of the Eastern woo narkets continues better than a month markete continues better than a month ago, dealers have to be satisfied with that, The improvement in feeling has not resulted in any any advance in values, and the increase in amount of business done is irregular. Some kinds of wool are in good request, as, for example, fine delaine and No.1 combing. Others rule in buyers favor. Purchases are comewhat larger than they have been, apparently on account of growing consumption, and yet there is no general disposition to stock up for the heavyweight goods that will be manufactured next spring. The amount of wool now stored on the seaboard is believed to be relatively small. In the country, where the staple is firmly held, there are, on the other hand, unusually large supplies.

No change is apparent in the recently pravailing conditions at Boston. Manufacturers are taking a fair amount of stock week by week, but make their purchases so cautiously and so closely to their requirements that no advance in prices is likely to be secured.
